Inter-Allied Supreme Council
Opens Meeting at Cannes.

BRITISH VICTORS Lloyd George Scores Tech- nical Point Over French.

Cannes, France, Jan. 6.—The inter-allied supreme council today approved the calling of a five-power economic conference to plan the reconstruction of Europe.

Cannes, France, Jan. 6.—Recognition of the Russian soviet government by the allies was urged by Premier Lloyd George of England in a speech before the inter-allied supreme council today.

In emphasizing the necessity of reorganizing the Moscow regime Premier Lloyd George declared that the allies "cannot deal with one group of assassins in the near east and refuse to deal with another."

Lloyd George assailed the assumption maintained in some quarters that Britain is not suffering as much from the war as some other countries.

The British premier appealed for allied co-operation, saying: "The Cannes conference is the most important since the armistice and the decision will be very far reaching. Frankness is necessary. Also, there must be three other considerations:

"First, a general agreement, a union if necessary.

"Second, the allies must make allowances for each other's view points.

"Third, there must be restraint regarding the vanquished powers.

"The victors cannot escape the responsibility for reconstruction. If they do try to escape it they will be condemned by the voices of our own countries.

Cannes, France, Jan. 6.—Unity and concerted action are needed to solve vital problems, which now confront Europe, said Premier Lloyd George in an address of welcome to the delegates at the opening of the inter-allied supreme council meeting here today.

Six nations are represented in the meeting: Britain, France, United States, Italy, Belgium and Japan.

George Harvey, the American ambassador to England is sitting in as an observer to report the proceedings to the state department at Washington.

Germany and Greece have representatives here for discussion of indemnity and the nearest problem.

Just as the conference got underway it was learned that Premier Lloyd George had secured the privilege of taking up Russia and Austria today instead of German reparations. This was considered a technical victory for the British as Premier Briand had been insisting that the indemnity issue be discussed first.

The first sharp disagreement between the British and the French arose over the conference program. The British produced the tentative program drawn up in the conference of Premier Lloyd George and Premier Briand in London.

The French repudiated the program saying that the Belgians had refused to agree to it, therefore the plan was null and void because it would not be workable unless the allies were in complete accord.

The British replied that they could not recognize that Belgium's "refusal to accept the plan rendered it ineffectual as it had been negotiated directly between the British and French premiers without representation from any other nation.

When the council met Ambassador Harvey was placed between the Japanese delegates and Premier Briand. Premier Lloyd George occupied a seat next to the French premier. Next to the British were the Italians and next to the Italians were the Belgians.

Prohibition of Poison Gas In Warfare Is Condemned

Sub Committee Endorses Usage As Necessary—Only
Dissenting Votes Are Cast By Italy and Japan
Both of Whom Unprepared.

Washington, Jan. 6.—A unanimous report against prohibition of poison gas as a weapon of warfare has been submitted to the arms conference by the sub committee appointed to consider that question. It was learned on highest authority today.

Contrary to widely published reports there was never a deadlock in this committee and the delegates of the United States, England and France throughout have been in substantial accord as to the essential principles to be applied to chemical warfare. Any differences of opinion which may have developed resulted from the attitude taken by Italy and Japan, the two nations which admittedly are in an inferior position with regard to the possibilities of developing chemical warfare.

Widely published reports to the effect that the conference would restrict if not entirely abolish the use of gas, undoubtedly had their origin, it was explained, in the fact that the American advisory committee had recommended such abolition. This committee however, reports only to the American delegation while the sub committee previous referred to is made up of representatives of the five leading powers, who report directly to the full conference.

The American position, which is concurred in by the British and French delegates is:

1.—That gas is an accepted weapon of warfare, having been used by all belligerents in the late war.

2.—That world war statistics prove it to be more humane than bullets or high explosives.

3.—That it has proved itself an effective weapon and that history shows efficient instruments of warfare are never abandoned except for a more efficient.

4.—That the susceptibility of the weapon to secret development in connection with commercial chemistry, makes it idle to talk of restricting its use by agreement.

5.—That because of the scientific knowledge required, poison gas is the principle weapon of highly civilized nations against so-called race perils.

6.—That the United States would be unwise to abandon chemical warfare in as much as the great number of developed chemical industries in the United States and the multitude of trained chemists places the United States in a position of peculiar advantage.

7.—That the "princess Mary" is latest, girls

London, Jan. 6.—The "princess Mary cloak" is the newest style in fashionable feminine apparel. The princess, who is to be married to Viscount Lascelles next month, has appeared in public frequently of late wearing a cloak of dove grey duvetyne, trimmed with grey fur and with a deep fur collar. The design is simple and the cloak is extra long, reaching to the knees. The princess has never adopted the modern short skirts. Her dresses reach the shoe tops.

WAGE SCALE WILL BE WORKED SOON

Columbus, Jan. 6.—Announcement that a wage scale will be worked out at a conference of southern Ohio coal operators and will be submitted to the miners union locals in the southern Ohio district for their consideration before April has been made by W. D. McKinney, secretary of the southern Ohio exchange, an organization of coal operators in the Hocking fields.

It is claimed that only four of the more than 400 coal mines in southern Ohio worked full time last week and that 300 were closed down all week.

JOHN WANNAMAKER LAUGHS AT STORY

Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—John Wannamaker, merchant prince and former postmaster general of the United States was at work today at his desk at his department store here. He laughed when told of a report emanating from Miami, Fla., that he had been reported killed.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 6.—When W. W. Wannamaker died here today his death started a chain of reports which, when they reached the outside world confused his name with that of John Wannamaker, Philadelphia and New York merchant, and also with that of W. W. Wannamaker's nephew, John S. Wannamaker, formerly president of the American Cotton Association.

W. W. Wannamaker had been here in ill health for several weeks. His body is now on its way to his former home, St. Matthews, S. C.

MAY CROSS LINE Former Minister of Agri- culture Back of Plot May Enter U. S.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 6.—A new revolt to overthrow Alvaro Obregon as president of Mexico has been started by Antonio Villareal, former minister of agriculture in the Obregon cabinet, according to information received here today. Villareal, now in the mountains near Monterey, Mex., has enlisted the aid of Gen. Pablo Gonzales at Laredo and the Carranzista followers here, according to the report and claims to have ten thousand men ready for the field.

The Obregon troops during the past three days are reported to have made over 250 arrests in connection with the new revolutionary plot.

U. S. agents are expecting Villareal to cross the international boundary to further his revolutionary activities.

PEDIGREED CATS HAVE INNING

Cleveland, Jan. 6.—Two hundred cats, with pedigrees reaching back into antiquity are in Cleveland today and gaze scornfully from furry faces at the common or alley cat. These are the aristocrats of the cat world—the Persians—here to attend the cat show now being held in connection with the Cleveland poultry show. In addition to the felines there are more than 4,000 other exhibits of poultry, pigeons, rabbits and other fowls and small animals from all parts of Ohio and other states. The show opened today.

NATIONAL RECORD FOR ROAD WORK IS HELD BY OHIO

Columbus, Jan. 6.—Ohio now holds the nation's record for having built the greatest mileage of improved roads in one year. Director of Highways Herrick said yesterday.

Completion of the work of 1921, to be completed in a few days, will show the state department constructed more than 1000 miles of new highways, he said. He expects the exact figures to be 1022 1/2 miles.

Pennsylvania previously held the record with 750 miles in one year.

Of the Ohio mileage built last year about 650 miles had been contracted for by Herrick's predecessor in 1920 and in 1919. Only 15 to 100 miles contracted for by Herrick last summer remain uncompleted, he said. There are only a few detours from the state system on account of uncompleted construction and all of these detours are in good condition, Herrick asserted.

The first highway letting this year is set for Jan. 20. More than 20 jobs are to be submitted for bids this month. The plans of the department being to award contracts early to enable contractors to get an early start next season. Close estimates by the department are considerably lower than last year and bids of contractors will have to be well within the estimates before awards are made, Herrick said. The department will not know how 1922 costs will compare with those of 1921 until bids are received, he pointed out. His hopes are for substantial reductions.

WASHINGTON TREATIES NOT WAR ALLIANCES

Flat Announcement by Great Britain Goes Far to Clear Atmosphere—"Liberty of Action" In Case of Emergency Reserved.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The last of the Root resolutions, virtually outlawing the submarine as a weapon of warfare against commercial vessels, was adopted by the five powers this afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The flat announcement by a high British official that Great Britain does not regard the four-powered Pacific treaty already signed or the five powered naval treaty, now being drawn up in any way constituting offensive or defensive alliances, went far today toward clearing the conference atmosphere, as the end of the two months' parley have into view.

It is the official view of the British government that the two treaties receive the light of "liberty of action" to all the signatory powers and this interpretation also is concurred in by the American government.

The only restraining clause, according to British interpretation; is that existing in the Pacific treaty which pledges the signatory powers to "communicate fully and frankly" with each other in cases of trouble between two of the powers party to the agreement, or with an outside party.

So far as Great Britain is concerned, it was announced, in case of attack she reserves the right to increase her navy immediately and expects other powers to do the same. It would be an act of grace, however, for a nation under such circumstances to notify the other powers.

"The naval treaty is essentially a treaty of peace," not of war, said the British official as he cited a hypothetical case:

"Suppose," he said, "that soviet Russia, or some other country should build a gigantic fleet of submarines and attack British commerce. If we found it necessary we would proceed at once to construct such additional weapons as were required to cope with the situation, regardless of the Hughes program. We would notify the other powers and proceed to construction."

To sum it all up, it was stated, Great Britain regards war as an automatic release from the restriction imposed by the Hughes program.

These clarifications from official British sources, coming on top of the agreement that has been reached to exclude the Japanese homeland from the provisions of the Pacific treaty are expected to allay nearly all of the senatorial opposition to the set of treaties that will emerge from the conference.

The rapid progress of the last 24 hours—the virtual prohibiting of submarine attacks on commerce and settlement of the Chinese tariff and foreign troops operations—led to reformed predictions that another ten days will see the end of the parley.

The naval committee went back into session today to tackle the last of the Root submarine resolutions, which makes it an act of piracy, punishable by death for a submarine commander to violate the rules of submarine warfare now agreed upon.

There is considerable opposition to this proposal, some delegates holding the view that it is not just to hold a naval officer individually responsible for something he may have been ordered to do by his government in time of war. The government itself should be punished, it is held. It is considered probable, however, that this opposition will be overcome and the resolution adopted.

Discussion also was in progress today over methods of making the new rules of submarine warfare between the five powers applicable to the world. The method most favored is to address them directly to the smaller powers having navies and requesting their adhesion to them.

It is possible that a plenary session of the conference may be called for tomorrow although the general expectation is that it will be early next week. It depends on the progress made by the drafting experts in connection with the naval treaty.

The treaties are expected from the conference, one consolidated

RIVAL FACTIONS IN DAIL BATTLE FOR UPPER HAND

Parliament Meets in Secret
Session to Discuss Treaty.

DEAD LOCK EXISTS Warfare Will Follow Acceptance of Devalera's Document No. 2.

London, Jan. 6.—Eamonn Devalera, president of Sinn Fein and head of the Irish cabinet which had been divided on the treaty establishing an Irish free state, has resigned, it was reported from Dublin this afternoon. His resignation, it was believed foreshadowed acceptance by Sinn Fein of the original Irish treaty worked out by the government and Sinn Fein envoys.

Dublin, Jan. 6.—Following many hours of intensive conferences in an effort to compose the differences between the rival factions supporting and opposing the Irish peace treaty, Dail Eireann met in secret session this morning to consider the report of the special committee which had been trying to arrange a compromise.

While adherents of Eamonn Devalera labored to gain support for take now famous document No. 2, Devalera's alternative peace proposals, the supporters of the original Irish treaty worked to break the deadlock and secure acceptance of the London pact.

Followers of Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith pointed out that rejection of the London treaty and substitution of the Devalera treaty would not bring peace to Ireland because the British government would not accept the Sinn Fein document. They warned the treaty opponents that Ireland must expect a renewal of warfare if the London treaty is turned down in favor of document No. 2.

Some of the supporters of the treaty spoke bitterly of "old men" and women and college professors among the opposition who would not have any fighting to do in the event that war was resumed in Ireland.

When Dail convened optimism over the possibility of an agreement did not run very high. The young officers of the Irish republican army, who have been working for ratification, had not lost hope and said that they would continue to labor for a compromise upon the basis of acceptance of the London treaty.

Dublin, Jan. 6.—All efforts to reach a compromise in Dail Eireann upon the Irish peace treaty have failed, it was announced early this afternoon after the secret session of Dail had adjourned.

It is expected that a vote will be taken on the London peace pact late tonight or tomorrow in open session. Devalera was said to be adhering to his plan to introduce his counter peace proposals when the motion is made to take a division on the London treaty.

AMERICAN RELIEF FEEDING 9 MILLIONS THROUGHOUT RUSSIA

Good Progress is Made in Work, Col. Haskell
Reports

Riga, Jan. 6.—By the end of February the American relief administration in Russia will be feeding two million children in the famine zone, and as soon as the new $20,000,000 credit is opened in America, the relief organization will be feeding about seven million adults, according to Col. William N. Haskell, who arrived here today from London en route to Moscow.

Col. Haskell is chief field director of the American relief administration.

"Good progress is being made in extending relief to the Russians in the starvation zone," said Col. Haskell. "The basis of the relief ration is a pound of bread augmented by other nourishing foods."

"The soviet is turning over $10,000,000 in gold for the purchase of food and grain seed in the United States and already one third of this sum has been transferred to the Guaranty Trust Company, of New York City."

"Large shipments of maize are en route from America for distribution by the A. R. A. among the adult population of the Volga district. Feeding of the adult population will not be in full swing however, until February."

"The Moscow soviet has placed at the disposal of the A. R. A., 2,000 railway locomotives and 8,000 cars for transportation of foodstuffs."

DETECTIVE VICTIM OF BULLET FROM GUN OF GANGSTER

Bandit Shoots Two Officers While Being Arrested

New York, Jan. 6.—Detective Francis J. Buckley died early today as the result of a bullet wound in the leg. He was the second victim of a notorious Negro gangster who turned on his captors last night 200 feet from the 135th street police station. Detective Wm. A. Miller was the other victim.

Buckley and Miller were taking the Negro, wanted for assault on the police station when he broke away and fired a revolver concealed in his belt.

Police today have a cordon around an area of several blocks in the Harlem district, trying to locate the slayer.

FREIGHT HANDLERS APPEAL TO BOARD

Cleveland, Jan. 6.—Union freight handlers here today are preparing to appeal to the railway labor board against the action of the New York Central railway in contracting the handling of freight received and shipped out of Cleveland to the New York Terminal Operating corporation. The plan is declared by road officials to be an experiment, which, if successful, in reducing costs, will be applied all over the system.

Under the terms of the contract, the corporation will direct and employ all labor in handling freight. Normally about 400 men are employed but the force at present number 280.

FLETCHER SELECTED BELGIUM ENVOY

Announcement of the selection of Henry P. Fletcher, Under Secretary of State, as Ambassador to Belgium was hinted as imminent in official quarters in Washington. Mr. Fletcher would succeed Brand Whitlock, who has been the American Ambassador to Brussels.

Followers of Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith pointed out that rejection of the London treaty and substitution of the Devalera treaty would not bring peace to Ireland because the British government would not accept the Sinn Fein document. They warned the treaty opponents that Ireland must expect a renewal of warfare if the London treaty is turned down in favor of document No. 2.

Some of the supporters of the treaty spoke bitterly of "old men" and women and college professors among the opposition who would not have any fighting to do in the event that war was resumed in Ireland.

Columbus, Jan. 6.—A reprieve until March 1, has been granted by Governor Davis to Henry L. Bland, sent to the penitentiary from Meigs County under sentence to die in the electric chair Jan. 9, for the murdering an aged man near Pomeroy.

The reprieve is for the purpose of permitting the state pardon and parole board to make an investigation.

Mrs. Maud Bland, East Liverpool, mother of the condemned man, asking the governor for clemency for her son, charged that Bland did not fire the shot that caused his death.

Bland and two companions pleaded guilty to murder. The other two men were sentenced to life imprisonment. Mrs. Bland claimed that one of the men sentenced for life fired the shot.

SHE IS "FULL OF PEP" THEY SAY

She is Good-Looking and Gay and is Always Ready for a Good Time

Why is a girl popular? Look around and see what a good time the good-looking ones have all the time. Men seek them out and ask them to parties, dances and entertainments. And notice that it is not the doll-face type real men like most, but the red-blooded girl with "pep" and happy good nature. Any girl who is tired and languid and has a poor complexion and dull eyes can improve her condition and be far happier if she will simply take Gude's Pepto-Mangan until she has put her blood into good condition. Red blood means "full of life" and "full of life" usually means happiness.

Try Gude's Pepto-Mangan and see how much better you feel. Doctors have used it nearly thirty years for weak, run-down people. It helps them get well. Sold in both liquid and tablet form. adv

STEINFELS NAMED CLERK OF COUNTY BOARD IS WORD

L. Steinfels, prominent Xenia Republican, was named clerk of the board of county commissioners by that body, Friday morning.

Mr. Steinfels will succeed S. O. Hale, who has held the office for over two years and has handed in his resignation to accept the post of city manager of Xenia the first of February.

Mr. Steinfels will enter the office immediately to familiarize himself with the work of the commissioner clerk, and it is possible that City Manager-elect Hale will assume his duties as executive head of the city earlier than he anticipated because of the early appointment of his successor.

Mr. Steinfels, new clerk of the commission was for many years a prominent Xenia clothing merchant before his retirement from active business. Although active in politics and often in the public eye, his entire public service is represented in two years he served on the city council at which time he was president of the body.

Since the election of Governor Harry L. Davis, Mr. Steinfels has been proffered several state positions all of which he declined because they would require him to leave Xenia.

ASK EIGHT MAJOR QUESTIONS OF MEN DESIRING BONUS

Application blanks for the payment of the Ohio soldiers' adjusted compensation will be sent from Columbus, Saturday, and will arrive here Monday, according to word received by Joseph P. Foody Post, American Legion, Friday from Robert R. Roberts, director of the Department of Adjusted Compensation Columbus.

As soon as the blanks arrive, Post Adjutant Carl Ervin, of Foody Post, will begin their distribution at the Legion Post Hall, at Detroit and Second streets, and ex-soldiers bringing in their discharge papers or certificates can obtain the blanks in order to claim their share of the bonus money.

Eight major questions are asked in the adjusted compensation or bonus blanks which will be sent out by the Ohio Sinking Fund Commissioners. The blanks have been printed in final form. The vital questions are:

"Did you refuse on conscientious, political or other grounds to subject yourself to military discipline or render unqualified service or while in such service were you separated therefrom under circumstances amounting to a dishonorable discharge

"Were you promoted to a grade above that of captain in the Army or Marine Corps or corresponding grade in the Navy after April 6, 1917? If so give date of such promotion.

"Have you applied for or received a bonus from any other state on account of such service in the World war? If so, name the State.

"If married at the time of enlistment, induction or commission give name and address of your wife at that time.

"Were you continuously in active service at the time of enlistment, induction or commission?" Name of birthplace and registration under the selective service act is required.

The notary is required to examine personally the discharge papers and to certify to statements made and also to give excerpts from discharge papers.

The blanks are to be filed out in typewriting or ink and if ink is used all names are to be printed in capital letters. Discharge certificates or official papers are not to be sent in with application. If these are necessary they will be asked for by letter. The Commissioners call attention to the law that provides for a penalty of one to ten years in the Ohio penitentiary for false affidavit. Errors are to be avoided as they make for delay, it is stated.

SIX FOXES ARE CAPTURED IN DRIVE FRIDAY MORNING

Six foxes were captured in the so-called "Big Four" drive held in the county adjacent to Xenia Friday, and postponed from Thursday.

Ideal weather greeted the postponement and brought out many hunters, it being estimated that 2,500 people were in the circle when it centered near the Union Church. Hunters say the line held better than in other drives in this section also, and ever fox rounded up was retained within the circle.

As the circle narrowed, small boys were sent into the center to stir up the foxes. A number of women took part in the drive, many of them driving themselves in men's clothing, and moving with the line.

Lunch was served at noon, and the foxes were auctioned off, the proceeds to go to charity.

TWO GAMES WILL BE PLAYED AT RINK

Two games will again feature the basketball menu at the Rink Friday night when the Central High Varsity connects with the Washington C. H. five in the main mill.

Coach Jerry L. Katherman has scheduled the Central High Prospects and the Central High Reserves to stage the preliminary contest at 7:30 o'clock, to whet the appetites of the fans for the big game later on. The main go is expected to get under way at 8:15 o'clock.

It will be remembered that Washington C. H. high furnished the first meat for the victorious blue and white football team of last fall, and then went through to a tough season of defeats. This discouraging season has only served to put the Fayette county school on edge for some real victories, and the followers of the Washington tribe are anxious to see their favorites come out on top of the heap.

Coach Katherman's tossers, having learned what it feels like to be defeated, are thought by fans to be in better condition to make a comeback and put up a real game than last week and enthusiasm on the outcome is running high.

UNCLE SAM MAKES JOBS.

As part of the government program for creating jobs for the unemployed, the treasury department will take up at once additional construction work totalling $14,762,000. The work will be distributed throughout the country. Among other items is the expenditure of $2,500,000 on three hospitals at soldiers' homes.

These big projects do far more than provide jobs for the men immediately employed upon them. They mean the prompt stimulation of private business in new chains of buying. Every industry which supplies contributory materials feels the stir of life in its farthest ramifications, and so does every business which deals in the necessities and luxuries of the wage earner. Thus the climb back to prosperity begins.

"WESTWARD THE STAR—"

Ten years more and the seats of power in the Senate and in the Republican Party will have passed from the old East to the newer West. Another decade and the men from the Mississippi Basin will hold the Senate in the hollow of their hands and will be the elder statesmen of the Republican councils. New England and the Middle Atlantic will bow to a new brand, breed and trend of leadership.

It has been coming a long time. The signs of the change are now written large.

Western Republicans have grown weary and uneasy under Eastern leadership. They are preparing to assert themselves. It is an open secret that the "farm bloc" hopes to ride the Republican councils of 1924 with spurs a foot long.

The National Farm Conference to deal with agricultural depression will emphasize the trend. Western interests refuse to be denied. The beef and pork, wheat and corn of the plains and the corn belt are talking back to the banks, the steel and the textiles of the East.

The political center of gravity is changing and following the westerly drift of population's center. In 1916, in Kansas and California, it exercised the balance of national power. Unless the signs fail, it will be across the Mississippi by 1930.

The death of Senator Penrose hastens an inevitable trend. With him departs from Pennsylvania and the East the headship of the powerful Senate Committee on Finance. It passes to McCumber, of North Dakota.

No sudden break with the past is likely. Under McCumber the tariff will move along much as it did under Penrose. The North Dakotan may think oftener of wheat, hogs, corn and beef than of steel and textiles, but he is not radical.

TEACHERS.

The teacher—usually—lives and labors too much in an atmosphere of social isolation, created by the thoughtlessness of the world outside the schoolroom walls.

Parents look to the school to replace the home for a few hours each day. They delegate parental responsibility and discipline—sometimes with a feeling of great gladness to be rid of a burden for a little while.

Do they hold up the hands of the teachers as they should? Commonly they do not. Too many parents, without investigation, take indignantly whatever complaints the child pleases to bring home. If the child says the teacher is unfair, the parent, instead of having it out with the child, goes on the warpath, with blood in the eye, for the teacher.

The marvel is not that many of our public schools are poorly taught. The wonder is that so much of the teaching maintains so high a standard.

If you are a parent what do you know of the woman or the man who teaches your child? What interest have you taken in what is being done for your child beyond writing an occasional note of request or remonstrance? Is your child's teacher your friend? He or she should be. You ought certainly to have a common interest in the training of the young person who carries your name and is to do the work of man or woman in the days to come.

Take in the teacher's problem, and with a little serious thought make it your own. The teacher's day is spent in a room not with two or three children, but with, it may be, two or three scores.

You say to the teacher, "Keep them interested"—and how would you do it if the task were yours? What arts would you use to fascinate that roomful and make the printed page and the oral recitation perfectly delightful?

You need not wonder if teachers' nerves are sometimes rasped to the raw. You need not be surprised to find them human and fallible. You, in the same place, would be.

The teacher needs contrast, recreation, refreshment more than most. The teacher must have chances to play. When the salary is paid the smallest part of the community's material obligation is discharged. We pay those who rear houses of brick and mortar more than we pay those who are building temples not made with hands wherein the human spirit dwells.

Contacts for true friendship's sake between teacher and parent ought in all ways to be encouraged. The teacher deserves to be an honored guest at the family fireside of any pupil—and at firesides of many families unrelated in any way to her daily routine. Parents who come to the schoolhouse to interfere with discipline and the day's work are a pest, not to be tolerated; the other sort, who want to help, should be made welcome, as partners of the teachers, is true friends of the taught.—Public Ledger.

Mr. Fred McClain and his brother entertained a skating party last night in honor of Brant Bell at their home northeast of Xenia.

It has been a question for some time as to what to do with the historic old bell and clock which formerly looked down on the populace from the old court house. They will go to Wilberforce University where they will adorn the new dormitory.

Mr. Will Golden, engineer on the Pan Handle, has received word to go to Chicago and will have a run out of that city.

THE UP-TO-DAE GIRL

There are a surprising and a pitiable number of girls who write to me and say that when they are out in the company of their friends, they never know what to talk about. Other people, they say have the gift of easy about everything must be frightfully clever to make up so much conversation about anything that comes up. I wonder whether that is true! For I have always noticed that the girls who write these letters express themselves well and send an unusually well-written, thoughtful letter. I have almost come to the conclusion that these little girls who find it so hard to say anything to their talkative friends are silent not because of stupidity as they think, but because their minds are on more serious things than the topics so easily enated about.

I think it most likely that these quiet girls have simply not found the right sort of friends.

There is always one thing that I recommend to the talkative girl as well as the shy one; that is to find out what is going on in the world, outside the immediate circle of friends outside the local affairs of one's own city, even outside of one's own nation. I think we all talk personalities fairly too much. Meantime the world is going through such an interesting phase that we should all know as much about it as we possibly can.

Miss 15—If you are 15 years old and have been bothered with pimples all your life, you must either have over-eaten, or eaten the wrong sort of foods. Do not eat pork or potatoes, puddings, candy, or cake for a while and see whether your complexion does not improve. Eat as much fruit and as many fresh vegetables as you can get. Drink two glasses of cool water at various times during the day.

You have made your skin worse by drying it. Get a good cold cream and rub a little into the face at night before going to bed. After a week, instead of using the cream at night, rub it into the skin before you wash and wash it out with warm water. Tomorrow—Fads.

SET YOURSELF TO THE TASK There is nothing that so withers the soul as aimlessness. A large number of our sad failures melt away like the mist before the hot sun just the minute that we set ourselves to a particular task and work into it. If you should ask me how to succeed, I would immediately reply: Have something useful in your mind to do—and then do it! No matter how much we gain in material things or how much we own, we are, in the last analysis, merely tenants. And the test of our stewardship is whether we remain faithful and true.

History is a record of humans crumbling into dust. But what these humans accomplished, remains as the fresh inspiration of all history.

William Knox, in his great poem, asks why the spirit of mortal should be proud.

We should bathe our hearts in humility—and see in the larger good of life the supreme reason why we should set ourselves to some particular task, and complete it.

The time is so short at the longest "The mere waft of a breath"

I am very sure that there is no time wasted in the world. There are too many important things to be done and there are so few big visioned people to lead.

Why should we be jealous of another's triumph? Why should we take the time to find fault?

There are problems everywhere. And each one of us controls peculiar abilities suited to the handling of some of these tangled affairs.

STRIPE.

Some day, I trust, all swords will rust, and armor cease to rattle; all wars are vain and men insane when they resort to battle. The dove of peace should never cease cavorting round above us, and human life should know no strife and those who hate should love us. The wolves and bears come from their lairs and scrap around like blazes, and, hunting foes the bobcat goes along the forest mazes. But I, at least, am not a beast, I claim that I am human; I do not care to rip and tear and fuss with man or woman. I wear a smile that's free from guile, I treat all gents politely, and troubles veer when I come near, I have no scraps unsightly. I herd my cows and seek no rows, and so no row come near me; no roar ascends from injured friends, but kindly greetings cheer me. If I packed gats and shot men's hats, to show my independence, I'd be in jail and there I'd wait for medical attendance. Men, friendly now, would punch my brow, and tear my scalp to ribbons, and break my dome with "Fall of Rome" and other works of Gibbon's. When nations skip without a chip upon each martial shoulder, war's stream of gore will roll no more, and guns will rust and molder.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Two panels, V-shaped at the bottom and extending two inches below the hem, give an effect of slowness to the silhouette. JOINT BANQUET
ATTENDED BY 50
AT COURT HOUSE

Members of the Lewis Post No. 29, of the Woman's Relief Corps, were guests of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic at a dinner served in the Post Hall in the Court House, Thursday.

About fifty people, members of the two organizations, were seated for the dinner. Two tables were arranged the length of the hall, decorated with bowls of carnations and narcissi. A two course dinner was served.

A program of speeches, songs and recitations was enjoyed by the guests following the dinner. The first address was given by the Rev. Albert Read, of the First Baptist Church, who dwelt upon his relations with the two organizations during his residence in this city. The remainder of the program was in charge of Mrs. E. J. Wilkins.

COURT NEWS

Will Admitted to Probate.

The will of Frank Hupman, admitted to probate by Judge Marshall yesterday with the exception of a few minor bequests leaves all of the estate, both real and personal to the widow, Olivia E. Hupman.

The minor bequests include $500 to the First Reformed Church, $500 to the testator's nephew, William Webb, and $50 to Woodland Cemetery to be used in caring for the testator's grave. At the death of the testator's widow, the residue of the estate is to be divided and one-fifth given to the testator's sister, Emma Webb, one-tenth to Fred Moore, or his children and one-tenth to Robert, John and Celia Moore, children of the testator's deceased nephew, Frank Moore.

The remaining three-fifths according to the will executed May 20, 1915, was to have been placed in the hands of trustees appointed by the probate court and invested in conservative investments, the income to be paid annually to the testator's three brothers, Jones and Charles Hupman. A Hupman. The widow is privileged to sell both of the properties in the estate on West Main street and one half of the Shearer property at Market and Galloway street, according to the will.

Later a first codicil to the will executed, May 26, revokes the article concerning the trust fund, and provides that the remaining three-fifths of the estate be divided, one-fifth each to the testator's brothers, Harvey, Jones and Charles Hupman. A second codicil was executed Dec. 12, 1921, and revokes the bequest of $500 to Woodland Cemetery and provides for a bequest of $25 to the cemetery. The widow, Mrs. Olivia E. Hupman, is appointed executrix under the terms of the will.

Administrator Appointed.

S. T. Carpenter has been appointed administrator of the estate of Jane Carpenter in probate court and furnished $3,000 bond. K. M. Johnston, Frank Stewart and Herbert Fisher were chosen as appraisers.

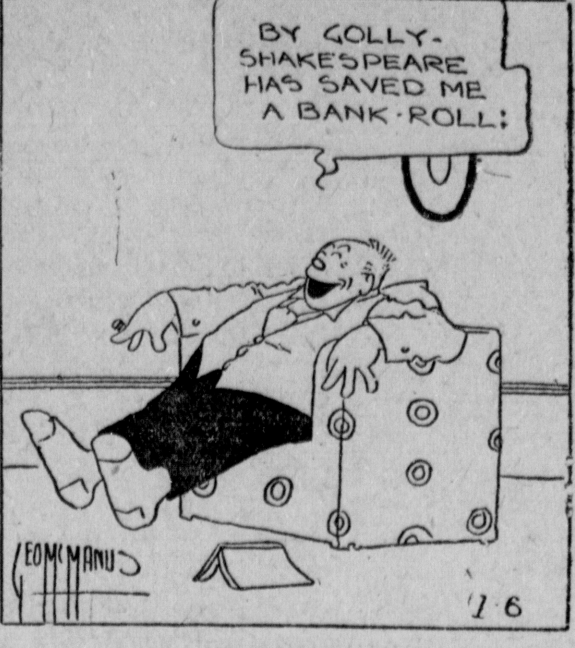

Three Cases Are Settled.

The three cases of The State of Ohio against Ed. Humphrey, Lawrence Humphrey and Taylor Humphrey, charging non-support of their father, Stacy Humphrey were settled in probate court, yesterday.

Under the terms of the decision Lawrence Humphrey is to continue to live with his father, and furnish all the fuel necessary. Taylor, Ed and Harold Humphrey are each to provide a credit of $3 a month for groceries and if Lawrence Humphrey moves from his father's home, he is to do the same.

The court ruled that since the father has a dower interest in the prop-

HELPFUL HINTS FROM READERS

Mrs. C. J.: "In a recent copy of the paper a reader asked for a floor paint which will dry quickly. I herewith enclose a recipe which I believe will give satisfaction.

Recipe for Floor Paint which Dries Rapidly: Add two ounces of glue to one quart of rain water. Set this on the back of the stove until thoroughly dissolved. When cool, stir in yellow ochre till about the consistency of paint, or so it will spread well. Paint the floor with this and when dry go over it with boiled linseed oil. It will dry the same day it is put on and will wear like iron."

M. H.: "In the coldest weather we always burn our oil stove which we use in summer for cooking. It gives out a great deal of heat and can be placed in any room."

B. B.: "I am going to tell you what

HELEN HUNTER'S HUSBAND

BY JANE THELPS

JACK FINDS HELEN HARD TO SATISFY CHAPTER

Unwittingly Jack had let himself in for a bad half hour.

"I'm not going to make myself ugly just because your mother does, and I hate to look domestic! I hate it all! Mother was poor, but she loved me. I never had to do housework when she was alive, she wouldn't let me. She didn't want me to spoil my hands washing dishes and doing other dirty work. Oh, why did she die? We might have lived with her always!" she sobbed bitterly as she always did when talking of her mother.

While Jack tried to comfort her, he shuddered at what she had said. Live in that musty boarding house always! He tried not to feel glad of the death that had made it impossible. He wondered what he had said to raise such a storm. He had only spoken of his mother wearing a large apron. He would try and help her more, Helen must not be made unhappy.

He did not realize that self-sacrifice would tend to make Helen happier, less selfish, for the simple reason that he did not realize her selfishness. He had given all of himself to her. He thought she had given herself to him in the same way. So, loving her, he invariably gave way to her, not realizing that his constant capitulation weakened the moral fibre of both of them.

Slowly his income grew. But it never was enough. Never was Helen quite satisfied. One night he was obliged to go out immediately he finished his dinner. He returned in half an hour, and hearing voices in the kitchen paused a moment wondering who it was. Helen had made one or two acquaintances in the house. It must be one of them.

Quietly he stepped into the room. Helen sat beside the table, a fashion magazine in her hand, while the red-faced janitress washed the dishes. Jack, saying nothing, quietly withdrew.

After the woman had gone noisily out of the apartment, he asked:

"Why was she here?"

"Because I'm through washing dishes! I was asked to play bridge today at that nice Mrs. Layton's on the second floor, and my hands were as red as beet. If you had wanted a kitchen girl you should have married one. Mother never let me do such things, and what's more, you knew it."

Jack could not plead ignorance. He did know it. Just why he should have expected Helen to be willing to do for him what she never had done for her poor over-worked, self-sacrificing mother, he could not explain, even to himself. But he had expected it. He knew by the disappointment he felt at her attitude.

"Pile them up and leave them. I'll do them. We can't afford help yet. When we can we shall have it."

Helen pouted prettily, then became angry.

"You tell me you are doing better, making more money, yet you find fault if I spend a cent. You wouldn't have had any home if mother hadn't left me that money."

If Jack felt like saying it had done him little good he stifled the words. As usual comforted Helen. He had already learned to put an inhibition on his speech, even on his thoughts. But he vowed to be even more careful in the future.

It was only a little thing that had upset them. Helen never had been accustomed to washing dishes. It did spoil a woman's hands. He thought of his mother's capable hands, red and a bit large of knuckles and Helen had such pretty white hands so soft and squeezable. He would wash all the

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach; it is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalize wornout, exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N.I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists in tablets only—never in liquid form.

WILL INSTRUCT IN OWN TOWNSHIPS

Township leaders who have been attending the clothing demonstration in Xenia, are soon to start instructing those interested in their own township.

Three of these leaders' meetings have already been held in Xenia, the fourth and fifth to be held in January and February. It is planned to start the township meetings before the series of county meetings are over, however.

Any woman who desires to enter the project should get in touch with her township Home Economics Committee woman at once.

FIVE CANDIDATES ARE INITIATED

Five candidates were initiated into the Phoenix Rebecca Lodge, No. 74, at the regular meeting held at the lodge hall Thursday night.

The meeting was opened with a dinner, at which the members of the local lodge, and the out-of-town visitors were present.

After dinner, the members of the Wilmington degree team, staged a drill, forty five members of the lodge taking part. Carey Holliday of Wilmington was in charge of the drill.

The initiation of the new members closed the evening's program.
